

Earn a High Quality MBA in 14 Months or Less

Professional, collegiate, scholastic and community-based athletic organizations of every description are seeking skilled leaders to help them thrive in an increasingly complex sports landscape. Indiana Tech's Master of Business Administration with a specialization in Sport Administration equips students to step into leadership roles across the industry.

Students in the Indiana Tech MBA – Sport Administration program gain advanced knowledge in key functional and strategic business areas such as management, marketing, accounting, finance and the economics of the global marketplace. At the same time, Sport Administration coursework helps them develop as leaders in the field through courses in athletic and sport administration, athletic eligibility and compliance, communication strategies and tactics in a sports environment, sport policy development and governance, and human resource development and management within a sports organization. The result: students complete the program armed to lead the planning, implementation and management of high-level sport and athletic operations across the industry.
